ASTIGMATISM.

What it is, and How Corrected.

ASTIGMATISM or Irregular Vision is one of the most common of all the refractive errors. It is due to the irregular curvature of the eye known as the Cornea. Of course no instrument is sufficient to correct it, but in the hands of a thoroughly efficient and competent Eye specialist the ophthalmometer reveals the exact condition of the eye in a way that nothing else can. If your eyes need attention have DR. J. T. JOHNSON to put them under this wonderful instrument. Office hours 9:30 to 12:30; 2 to 6. 302 S. Elm St.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU
HIGH POINT, N. C., July 1.
Joe Jackson, who was shot Thursday night, seems to be getting along alright under the circumstances.

Mr. Lane has been elected superintendent of the graded schools at Albemarle and has resigned his position as principal in the graded school here. Miss Cornelia Roberson will succeed him.

The front of Wrenn & Petty's store presents a neat appearance since the painters have finished his work. It is a bright pink color.

Come to High Point on July 4th and attend the unveiling exercises, etc.

With regret the friends and acquaintances of Mr. Eugene Darling who spent several weeks at the home of Miss Mamie Smith some weeks since for his health will learn of his death which occurred at his home in Plymouth, Mass. on the 27th day of June. He had consumption.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church will serve ice cream and cake on the old college lot next Tuesday, July 4th, where, after the unveiling of the monument is over the exercises of the day will take place.

Misses Affie Harris and Cora Kearns, whom the former is visiting, were city guests yesterday.

Services as usual tomorrow at the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, M. P. and Friends churches.

The game of ball between Guilford College and High Point amateur nines yesterday afternoon on the latter's grounds resulted in a victory for the Quakers. At the end of the ninth inning the score stood 15 to 10. Our boys made seven runs up to the fifth inning, holding Guilford down to one in the same, but dropped their candy after that.

The protracted meeting at the M. P. church, which was to have started last Tuesday, will begin tomorrow (Sunday). The pastor, Rev. W. R. Lowdermilk, will be assisted by Rev. Porter of Asheville.

Miss Julia Gastill, of Salisbury, arrived last night for a visit to Miss Stella Scroggs, on East Washington street.

J. H. Neese, the marble man of Greensboro, and his two little girls, were in the city while yesterday. Mr. Neese came on business.

Eat dinner in the Wheeler building next Tuesday and you will not come away hungry. A table that will accommodate 500 or more people at a sitting will be erected and everything good to eat will be before you.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Fortune and little son, who have been on a trip through the north, stopped over here Tuesday night with the family of Rev. J. R. Scroggs and left this morning for their home in Asheville. James Scroggs, brother to Mrs. Fortune, accompanied them.

The Home Lyceum went on their annual picnic to the home of Mr. W. J. Armfield, near here, last night. All spent a pleasant evening at this hospitable home.

Gala Week Program.

At the last meeting of the central committee on arrangements for gala week, the compiling of the official program for the occasion was placed under the supervision of N. O. Brown and L. W. House. As it is the desire of the committee and all those interested in the matter to make the official program as attractive as possible, all our business men are requested to lend their co-operation towards making it a success and a credit to our progressive city.

Gala week will prove an excellent opportunity to reflect the spirit of our city—its industry, progress and liberality. Invitations are being sent throughout the state, so many visitors may be expected, besides the thirty-one fire companies.

Let our business men respond liberally, thus assisting the program committee in their efforts to make this (one of the most important features of the occasion) a success.

A Change in Business.

Messrs. Jones & Cox, piano, organ and sewing machine dealers, have bought out Wingate's bicycle business, and will move to the latter's stand at 123 South Elm street, on Monday. Messrs. Jones & Cox are hustling young men who some months ago removed to this place from South Carolina, and in a quiet, yet persistent manner and by close application, have succeeded in establishing a nice business. They tell us they will close out the bicycle business, but will continue to do repair work. Their main business will be to sell pianos, organs and sewing machines, a car load of which will be shipped to them in a few days, and are expected to arrive here about the first of August. They will handle the White, Standard and New Home sewing machines.

A COLLISION INEVITABLE

Between the Opposing Armies At San Fernando.

STRENGTHENING HIS TRENCHES

The Enemy Works Day and Night—The Americans Do Not Lay Down Their Arms to Sleep.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Manila, July 1.—A collision between the two armies at San Fernando seems inevitable now. The insurgents are active all around the town, and can be seen working in the trenches to strengthen their position. Their forces are working day and night. It is estimated that 3,000 men were seen marching around north of the town on Wednesday. The Americans turned out and manned their defenses, expecting an attack. Our soldiers sleep in their clothes and breakfast at four in the morning to be ready for another day-break assault.

Gen. Overhine is in the hospital, with fever, General Grant commanding his troops on the south line.

THE DISPENSARY OPENS.

The Work of Putting in the Fixtures is Progressing Rapidly.

It is now in order for a certain distinguished gentleman who said he would jump off the court house if the dispensary opened in Greensboro the first day of July, to perform that feat. The second restraining order was heard yesterday by Judge Timberlake, and after patiently hearing the able argument of counsel on both sides, he dissolved and dismissed both the rules for contempt and the prayer for temporary restraint.

Accordingly the dispensary was opened today in the Jones & Taylor building. Some rapid hustling was done, as the fixtures of Shoffner's had to be removed, the dispensary stock of goods moved in and the work of putting up the necessary shelving, and counters for the dispensary begun. In a day or two the work will be completed and everything in smooth running order.

All the barrooms in the city were closed last night. There was much drinking and some disturbance on the streets by drunken and rowdy men. As late as midnight wild and weird yells could be heard from parties wending their wabbling footsteps in the direction of Warnersville. There will be no more drunken crowds falling from barroom doors near the depot to make ladies dread to pass that way.

We have nothing but the kindest of feelings for the retiring barroom men, and wish for each of them success in whatever calling they may engage in our midst.

Let the dispensary law be rightly carried out and we believe that many of those who are now bitter in denouncing it will ere long see in it the best known means of dealing with the liquor question.

HUCOMUGA TO BE ENLARGED

And the Capacity Soon to Be Increased, Materially.

The Telegram learns with pleasure that the demand for the Hucomuga Manufacturing Company's goods has become such that they are now preparing to materially enlarge their plant and increase their capacity. An addition will soon be erected and occupied by the machinery in the present weave room. Forty-five looms will be installed in what is now the weave room, increasing the capacity of the mill slightly more than 40 per cent.

The Hucomuga Manufacturing Company are makers of fine cotton goods and their output has always found ready sale. They have been taxed to the utmost to keep up with orders for the past several months.

Greensboro is fast becoming a manufacturing city. During the past year several new manufactories have been started here, while not a few of the old factories have been enlarged, or will be at an early date.

REV. R. P. TROY DEAD.

Stricken With Paralysis Yesterday And Died This Afternoon.

The Telegram regrets exceedingly to chronicle the critical illness of Rev. R. P. Troy. On Wednesday and Thursday he was complaining slightly and yesterday morning was suddenly seized with a severe pain, which seemed to almost split the brain. After two hours of intense suffering he became unconscious and has remained so for more than twenty-four hours.

Rev. T. L. Troy, of Durham, has been summoned and other members of the family have been informed. The worst is feared at any time. Later—it is with the deepest regret that the Telegram announces the death of Mr. Troy, which occurred at his home near Greensboro Female College this afternoon at 3:20 o'clock. The stricken family have not yet decided when the funeral will occur.

THE LYNCHING EVIL.

In Universal Knowledge Alone Is the Remedy.

Correspondence Telegram.
Mr. Editor:—I believe I promised you an occasional communication. We have enjoyed the daily visits of the Telegram so much, that returns on our behalf are past due. You have rendered good service to the best interests of the city you represent, and your efforts have been appreciated. The Telegram stands for right and progress; may its shadow never grow less.

I have been much interested for a long time in the efforts of preachers and editors to solve great problems, like the race problem, the lynching problem, and such like. Some people say lynching is the only remedy for certain lawlessness, and other doctors give us remedies for lynching. Now many unwise remedies are suggested, and I shall be thought short-sighted when I say there is no remedy for either but time and long time at that—enough for knowledge to become universal. Society is like nature, of which it is a part. Its uniformity is its chief feature, but there are tornadoes and earthquakes and electric storms. We have been educated to believe that these were necessary evils, for purifying the atmosphere and putting matters on an equilibrium; probably this is true, but woe to the man or the town that happens to be in their track. Society, like nature, becomes impure, but unlike nature is personally responsible for personal wickedness, for violently trampling under foot established customs, civic, social and legal statutes, whereupon the storm of retribution rages through the section of the miscreant with resistless fury.

Until nature changes, the storm will come: until human nature changes, the ignorant, who never heard of anything that had happened to his kind, the bestial, who has one all controlling passion without knowledge or thought of what has been and what will be, sows the seeds of a hasty harvest. He sows the wind and reaps the whirlwind; the increase is a hundred fold.

Why does not all lecturing and preaching and writing diminish desperate wickedness and lynching? The reason is not for to seek. The desperately wicked do not read, they do not hear, they do not know, they do not think. They never hear of a lynching fifty miles from home. And when they do the knowledge comes from some sympathizer who speaks of the victim as a martyr. Probably not one victim in ten ever had any knowledge or idea of a lynching. The almost irresponsible society in which he came up suffered him to grow perverse and desperate and then eliminates him as a ruinous excess.

There is no dug form for killing snakes or wolves; tardiness or conventionality contributes to their escape; the endangered frontiersman does not argue, he acts, not by a code, but by instinct. So in certain cases does society as a whole. Society cannot be legislated to; it legislates as a whole or through representatives, and when it acts as a whole, its operations have a decided emphasis of the strongest character.

Three thousand years ago it was said that "the wise man foreseeth the evil and hideth himself, but the simple pass on and are punished." The fool, the ignorant, the base have always had to pay the penalty of being such and always will.

For political reasons, however, we shall expect to see one section of the country lecturing the other, with no other effect than keeping alive some slowly dying sentimentality and the capturing of a few ballots.

For many years we shall expect to see "the simple pass on," while society shall rise up as one man about them to put them out of the way.

Extension of knowledge and uniform and speedy execution of law will ameliorate both these evils.

Universal extension of knowledge with speedy trials would obliterate both evils. Progressive Citizen.

ARSON BY NEGRO MINERS

At Cartersville, Ill.—Sheriff Swears In Two Hundred Deputies.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.
Springfield, Ill., July 1.—Secretary Ryan, of the United Mine Workers of America, has received a message from Thomas Jeremiah, of Cartersville, Ill., saying that the negroes there are setting fire to the houses of the union miners and urging the secretary to come at once. He leaves early this morning. The sheriff swore in some two hundred deputies and has them stationed at the mines where the negroes work. Officers of the miners' organization are advising against a demonstration against them.

BUSINESS AT WASHINGTON

Has Been Extremely Dull at Washington This Summer.

THE FOURTH TO BE CELEBRATED

At The National Capital—Colonel Boyd Denies a Report—Other Interesting News.

Special to The Telegram.

Washington, July 1.—Several Virginia people were in the city Thursday afternoon and Friday. Among them was Senator Martin, who is on his way to the State. He remained over for a short time. On the 8th instant the senator will attend an old fashioned barbecue to be given at his home, Scottsville, Virginia.

Representative Rixey, of the 8th district, and Speaker Ryan of the Virginia house of delegates were also in the city. None of that three distinguished gentlemen, it is reported, were here on either official, or public business, and there is said to be no politics connected with their visit. Mr. Rixey was here merely attending to some personal matters in which he is interested.

Virginia people coming to Washington who have been seen nearly without exception are of the opinion that Governor Tyler is not a candidate for the senatorship in the true acceptance of the term. If he were tendered an election by the legislature, however, most Virginia people believe he would accept, though he does not personally seek the office. The opinion is growing stronger here that Senator Martin will be re-elected, and most Virginia people believe that he will have no opposition.

There may be fight against the re-nomination next year of some of the present delegation from Virginia on account of the prominence they have taken in the movement for the election of United States senators by popular ballot. Among those who may have opposition are Jones, of the first district; Lamb, of the Richmond district, and Rixey of the 8th. It is said to be almost sure that two candidates will be in the field for the nomination against Col. Lamb.

Today marks the beginning of the new fiscal year, so far as the national government is concerned. During the present summer business at the national capital has been extremely dull, and merchants and business men are complaining. If anything business is duller this year than it was one year ago. There have been in Washington very few failures, but the distress has been felt principally among the smaller business men.

July fourth will be generally celebrated at the national capital. The authorities have made no restrictions against the display of fire works on the national birthday, excepting that the police are to exercise the usual care and supervision over the younger portion of the community to prevent setting fire to buildings, and children from meeting with accidents. The departments will be closed, of course, as will also most business houses of the city.

Tomorrow, July 2nd, will be the 18th anniversary of the assassination of the late President Garfield. The day is always remembered at the national capital by those who lived here at the time, with feelings of sadness and regret. Eighteen years ago the day fell on Saturday, while this year it comes only one day later, Sunday.

Last week in a report sent out from this office, which was supposed to be based upon substantial grounds, Col. Boyd, Assistant Attorney General, was quoted as stating that in his opinion the constitutional amendment would pass. Col. Boyd denies the published reports, and wishes correction made.

Nearly all of the testimony in the North Carolina and Virginia contested election cases has been printed by the government printing office. The belief is among those who have read it that the contestants have, in most of the cases, at least, not substantiated their charges.

Postoffice site at Vanceboro, Craven county, has been moved 500 yards north.

Postmasters have been commissioned in North Carolina as follows: Joseph P. McInturf, Burnsville; Cora Dinkins, Vanceboro; Jimmie L. DePriest, Lattimore and Thomas J. Allison, Sugar Creek.

J. F. Hayes, of Sapphire, North Carolina, is in the city for a few days, stopping at the Raleigh Hotel.

Came After McCollum.

A sheriff from Elkhorn, W. Va., arrived last night after George McCollum, the negro arrested here a few days ago charged with grand larceny committed at Elkhorn. The officer left last night with the negro. George was one of the happiest prisoners we have ever seen. He admitted his guilt and rejoiced in advance over the good time he would have in the Virginia penitentiary.

VAN DEVENTER CARPET CO.

The Latest Addition to Greensboro's Manufacturing Enterprises.

Before very long the wheels of one of the few carpet factories in the south will be humming in the northern suburbs of Greensboro.

The Van Deventer Carpet Company, who have been prospecting in this section for several months, have decided to locate a mill at this place for the manufacture of carpets, and expect to begin the erection of their buildings as soon as possible. A representative of the company is here now making contracts with local contractors and lumber men and building will most probably begin in a very few weeks.

The new mill will be located just north of the city, a short distance from the Revolution Cotton Mills, now in course of construction.

The Van Deventer Company is now engaged in the manufacture of carpets in New Jersey and will operate the Greensboro mill in connection with the northern manufactory. The mill here will be a large one and will turn out a fine quality of goods. Further particulars are withheld for the present for reasons best known to the company's representative.

The Southern Railway will extend its track to the new mill at an early date.

SERIOUS CHARGES

Are Brought Against S. L. Trogden, Clerk Federal Court, Here.

Serious charges are being made against S. L. Trogden, clerk of the federal court in Greensboro, to the effect that notices signed by him are being served by the marshals, in cases that were settled or not pressed. It is said that two of the most respectable married women in Wilkes county were required to travel fifteen miles on a carfare charging that they failed to attend the last court as witnesses, when in fact they had not been summoned.

Mr. Trogden refuses to make any statement further than there is nothing in the charge; that he has done nothing except to carry out the orders of Judge Purnell.

Much Drinking—A Fight.

Jim Massey and Pearly Green, both colored, had a drunken row on the sidewalk in front of Coble's bar last night. Both men were almost too drunk to stand, but each succeeded in making a an ugly wound on the cranium of the other. Green was knocked senseless and beaten on the head with a rock. Officer Perce delivered him to his friends and carried Massey to jail.

It seems that a large number of colored "bucks," who left the much-visited barrooms reluctantly, took long, last drinks last night and many were drunk on the streets.

A NEW SORT OF VAMPIRE.

A peculiar bug is creating a mild consternation in some of the northern cities. It is scientifically called the melanolestes picipes, and in common parlance is known as the "kissing bug." It is black in color and slightly lustrous. Its bite is not dangerous nor poisonous, but produces a swelling which refuses to yield to treatment under a period of 48 hours. Recently at Washington the beetle has bitten no less than 300 persons on the lips while they were sleeping, and now it makes its appearance in Philadelphia, and we let the Record tell of its depredations there:

The first time the presence of this mysterious member of the bug family was discovered here was on the morning of June 15, when the unknown young woman walked into the Poly-clinic Hospital with an exceedingly swollen and disfigured face. The lips bore every appearance of having been the target for a whole nest of wasps. The unusual case puzzled Dr. McLes-ter, and he turned the young woman over to a clinic, under the direction of Dr. Martin. The latter succeeded in reducing the size of the girl's lip, and she left the hospital. Nixon and Corwin have been in the hospital within a week, and their faces bore every evidence of the fact that the "kiss" had been doing business.

Miss Miller was the first sufferer from the strang bug to enter the Pennsylvania, and her complaint greatly mystified Dr. Wiggins and his associates, but they were likewise fortunate in diminishing the swollen member by applying a solution of colodion. The latest victim was Black, who put in appearance yesterday.

The bug is black in color and has something of a lustre. His favorite time for playing his vocation is during the night, when his victims are asleep. It is said his bite is not dangerous nor poisonous, although the swelling will not yield to treatment within a space of 48 hours.

The identity of the mysterious insect which puzzled the brains of many learned scientists was discovered by Dr. L. O. Howard, the entomologist of the department of agriculture. An assistant of his captured a specimen while in the act of biting him.

This nocturnal, vampiric visitor seems to have an exceedingly voracious disposition, confining its suckings to female lips, and is even very choicely about what kind of female lips it sucks—those that are pretty, rosy and blushing being the more sought to its visitations. But the Telegram trusts that this discriminating tendency which it has displayed will not suddenly cause an invasion of the melanolestes picipes to any of our North Carolina cities—Greensboro, for instance.

THE VANCE MONUMENT.

North Carolinians will be highly pleased to learn that it will not be long before the chisellers will have been set to work upon the monument to our beloved Vance, which is to be situated near the entrance of the capital square at Raleigh, facing Newbern avenue. The models are already coming in. Col. Olds, writing to the Charlotte Observer this morning, says that "two models were sent in by artists today one by G. Trentanove; the other by P. Giordani, both of Washington, D. C. Trentanove has done some specially good work—such as the statues of Father Marquette, for the State of Michigan in the national capital and the capital of Michigan, also statues of Webster and Albert Pike at Washington. The suggestion will be made by Treasurer Brown, and is an admirable one, that the pedestal be a great granite boulder the statue to be placed on the highest part of this end that on a polished portion of the eastern face of the boulder the inscription be placed. Other designs are expected in a day or two. All will be on view on the 6th."

The committee which is to meet next Thursday for the inspection of the models is composed of the following gentlemen: R. H. Speight, S. L. Hart, and J. D. Boushall, with R. H. Battle, president, and Joseph G.

Brown, Treasurer of the Vance monument association.

We have no doubt that their selection will be excellent. The association has raised some $3,000 and the legislature appropriated $5,000, and we hope our beloved and sainted leader shall have a fitting remembrance of his goodness and fame.

The incident of the New York young man rescuing three drowning boys from East River with a cigarette in his mouth, which, throughout the performance, remained lighted, will prove an unfortunate occurrence, not in that boys will strive to dexterity in the rescuing act, but that many a kid will practice to perfection the feat of remaining under water with a lighted coffin-nail between his teeth.

A SUNDAY WITH MY OLD FLOCK.

Rev. Mr. Troy's Good Cheer Is Remarkable And His Faith Beautiful.

Correspondence Telegram.

"For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a door-keeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness." Psalms, 84:10.

The Psalmist at this time was deprived of the privilege to enter into the house of the Lord, and gives vent in beautiful language to his desire to be again restored to the communion of the sanctuary. "How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts!"

"My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God."

The writer enters heartily into this beautiful sentiment. And his readers will no doubt excuse him as he writes today a few hours spent with his old flock, none of whom he had seen for five years.

Sitting in a comfortable rocker on the pulpit at Haywood Street Methodist church, Asheville, I worshipped God with friends of the happy long ago. It had been the one intense, longing desire of my whole being to see them again, and this prayer God in His abundant mercy has granted. And it is not difficult to write this morning that even one such a day of peace, tranquillity, and communion with the Holy Spirit and the people assembled in the Lord's court, is of more value than a thousand or thousands spent in the ways or habitations of sin.

The good pastor, Rev. H. L. Atkins, made a nice talk to his charge, brief and to the point, after which he gave me liberty to talk to a people whom I have never ceased to love. The Lord gave me sufficient breathing capacity for the occasion, and during a fifteen or twenty minutes talk the leaking heart went on performing its contract without making a miss or a double tick. The fact is, I told them that my heart was fixed. Perhaps in all my life I never spent a happier day than last Sunday. The Lord was near all and His spirit upon us. I told them that though reduced in body there was no diminution in the faith. That the faith of the Son of God who loved me and gave himself for me was still mine; and through this faith I lived. But for it no doubt long since my voice would have been silenced, but this faith and trust, together with food that I could digest, had kept me thus far and that I had returned to them not in the role of a higher critic but simply as one walking in the old paths, leaning on the ever lasting arms, and preaching the same Gospel of faith in God to sustain and comfort in the hour of trial. And while I am perfectly aware that in me there is no big preaching, yet, it was so delightful to realize that they were listening, and no doubt praying for me. The service was one of divine healing. We understood each other, and it was so good to be there. For I did realize in all of its fullness the truth in the text, "a day in thy courts is better than a thousand, etc.," and also glad the fruit on flowing from the statement: "O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in Thee."

After my talk the unselfish pastor honored me with the title of pastor emeritus, saying that the congregation was in his hands, and he at my command. But I shall not attempt to exercise authority, only asking the privilege of being one with them, contributing all I can to their spiritual up-building by living before them a life of faith, and practicing what I have preached. The fact is there is little comfort in a religion that is not practiced, although it may sit in the amen corner, or stand in the pulpit. There were many hearty hand-shakes and fervent good-wishes at the conclusion of the service. And so from this time we go on with more faith and trust than ever, both in God and in humanity. And how much more real benefit we may all receive by going in the way of righteousness than in that of wickedness or indifference. The way of right living is the way of sun-shine, of light. And more than that, it is the way of plenty. "For the Lord God is a sun and shield." This means light and protection. "The Lord will give grace and glory." This means help and usefulness. And, "no good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly." This means unlimited supply of both material and spiritual food. Having tried both ways, I am satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt, and I render the verdict in accordance with evidence, seen and felt, that it is better to live one day in the Court of the Lord, than to live years in the tents of sinful pleasure. It is a clear case. There can be no comparison. God will never fail to honor a check that is properly drawn. But it cannot be thus drawn unless backed by a proper life. Living right is the only way to do actual good. And so sure as night follows day just so sure will them anvil that life see its results. The Lord and the world care more for living testimonies than for dying ones. I have known men on the gallows to give beautiful dying experiences. But the life had been anything else. You can't dwell all lifetime in wickedness, and then do much good at the last hour even if you do hear the heavenly music and the rustle of the angel wings, when the death-rattle is in your throat. I would never spend time in writing a book of death-bed experience. They are very uncertain things. What I want more than anything else is to be a daily, living witness to the truth that it is, in every sense better to be door-keeper in the house of the Lord than to be a big office-holder in the tents of wickedness. "One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after, that I may dwell forever in the house of the Lord." That means nothing more nor less than to be a living epistle, read and known of all men. An epistle giving evidence all the time to the power and influence of God upon the individual. Let us then as we dwell in the house or courts of the Lord as we come in contact with others who may follow in our steps. Though there may be pleasure in the tents of wickedness, yet, forget it not, that so long as you dwell therein, you can be of no service to God. And remember that this pleasure invariably costs more, than it fetches in paying dividends. But godliness is always profitable. Invest, therefore, in something that pays. Approach unto God; dwell in His courts; and you will be satisfied. Try it.

An Epidemic of Diarrhoea.

Mr. A. Saunders, writing from Coconaut Grove, Fla., says there has been quite an epidemic of diarrhoea there. He had a severe attack and was cured by four doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says he also recommended it to others and they say it is the best medicine they ever used. A Cheap Trip to the Pacific Coast.

The National Educational Association meeting at Los Angeles, Cal., is the occasion for the Southern Railway to put on the remarkably cheap rate of One Fare for the Round Trip (plus $2.00 Association Membership fee). This, in connection with the new Palace Tourist Sleeping Cars, operated over the Southern Railway and the Southern Pacific, a double berth in which costs only $7.00, renders possible the cheapest and most enjoyable trip of the season. A particularly pleasant feature of this trip is that the tickets are good going one way and returning another; i. e., going via New Orleans and returning through Salt Lake City and Colorado; or by the payment of $12.50 additional, the trip may be made returning through Portland, Ore.

Stop over privileges are allowed at El Paso or any point west thereof, on the going trip, and at any point west of Denver and Colorado Springs on the return trip. By this means passengers are afforded the opportunity of seeing the entire Pacific Coast. Side trips are arranged at nominal cost from Los Angeles and San Francisco to all points of interest in California. Further information may be obtained from any agent or representative of the Southern Railway, or from

One way to save coal bills—Look them in the safe.

Hans Andersen has a story of a buffalo that scorned the snow flakes. "Puff," he snorted, "I can blow you away with a breath, what can you do to me?" But the flakes kept falling, falling, until the buffalo was almost buried, and the hunter slipped along the snow crust and made him an easy prey. There's another hunter who hunts to kill, who makes many a man his victim because of a folly like that of the buffalo in Andersen's fable. It's a little thing to have that uneasy feeling in the stomach after eating. Sour risings and belching are also reckoned little things. Yet these little things are among the minor marks of a disordered condition of the stomach and organs of nutrition and digestion. Of themselves they may not kill, but if despised they may open a pathway to some deadly disease.

Don't neglect the first symptoms of indigestion or "stomach trouble." The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery may avert a more serious danger. It will surely cure any disease of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, excepting cancer.

Mr. Ned Nelson, the celebrated Irish comedian and mimic of Dryden Street, Camden, N. J., writes: "We fulfilled an engagement of twenty weeks and the constant traveling gave me a bad touch of that dreaded disease called dyspepsia. I had tried everything possible to cure it, till last week, while playing at B. E. Keith's Bijou Theater, Philadelphia, in the Nelson Trio, a professional friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I tried it, and, thank God, with good results."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a specific for biliousness.

Mt. Vernon Springs Hotel is now open for the reception of guests. The waters from the Mt. Vernon Springs are equalled by few and surpassed by none in the state for medicinal and curative properties. Some of its cures are almost miraculous. Its taste is pleasant, cool, palatable and refreshing, and you enjoy it from the first. The springs are surrounded by great natural beauty. Around the premises is a dense oak grove and the air is pure and invigorating.

This most desirable of health and pleasure resorts is located just one mile west of Ore Hill in Chatham county. For further information address the owner and proprietor,

Dr. Smith, at the First Presbyterian church, is beginning a short series of night sermons on Ahab and Jezabel. The sermon tomorrow night will be specially inviting to young men who are cordially invited.

Judge Timberlake left at noon for his home in Louisburg to spend Sunday. He will go to Morehead city Monday to attend the annual meeting of the North Carolina Bar Association and will return to Greensboro court on the 10th.

The season is now on for summer outings and picnics, and there is not an article of equipment for such a trip that is more essential than a kodak. Fariss, the druggist, advertises the Eastman Kodak in this paper and your attention is hereby directed to same.

The Greensboro Orchestra is soon to present to the public an operetta, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," by J. W. Tillinghast. The assistance of our best local talent will be enlisted and nothing will be spared to make it a success. The company will be trained by Mr. Tillinghast, the author of the operetta.

Mr. James Dillworth, of the First Regiment Band, spent last night in the city with relatives. He, and his brother, two of the best musicians in the above named band, have accepted positions as instructors of the Concert Band at Reidsville, at which place they will remain until the first of September when they will rejoin the First Regiment Band at Asheville.
